

Amplify London - Round 1 Projects

Round 1 Projects

The first five Amplify London funded organisations and their projects were announced in July 2020 and are listed below:

Ambition Aspire Achieve: Arc Music

This Newham youth club launched their new music studio in the autumn of 2020, and ran music technology and digital music-making workshops for vulnerable young people aged 12-14.

Collage Voices: Voice Against Hate

This north London-based project sought to celebrate difference, championing respect and combating hate in schools, through a bespoke song-writing programme.

Girls Rock London: Summer Camp

This 6-day intensive Summer Camp in Hackney enabled young women and trans youth to learn an instrument and form a band, trained by industry professionals.

Ruff Sqwad Arts Foundation: You Can't Handle The Beat 2020

This 6-week project ran during summer 2020, in a studio with social distancing measures in place (due to the Covid-19 Pandemic). RSAF trained young MCs, producers and sound engineers to create and record an EP. The young people also produced music videos for two of the tracks.

School Ground Sounds: Windrush Amplified

In partnership with Brixton Wings youth club, this song-writing camp for vulnerable, local young people aged 11-16 explored the theme of Windrush.
